Sir William Hearst, Premier of Ontario, fears that shortage of food supplies will hinder the Allies in winning the war.
"We must look calmly and fearlessly at the present situation. Even though there is greater thrift, economy and conservation of food, there will be a shortage of supplies to Great Britain and her Allies that will hinder her chances of winning the war," said Premier Hearst.

Council Votes To Remit License To Chautauqua Committee.

Accepts Property in Settlement of Tax Arrears

Chief of Police Withdraws Resignation and is Granted Increased Salary

A busy session of the town council was held last night. Mayor Beebe, Councillors Rosse, Dutil, Lagace, Evans and Christophers being present. The minutes of previous meeting were read and approved, several accounts were passed for payment and a batch of communications were read and dealt with.

The auditor's report for the quarter ending June 30th was read and ordered filed.

R. Green, as chairman of the Grounds Committee of the Blairmore Chautauqua, wrote the council, asking that that body consider remittance of license required from Chautauqua.

Councillor Lagace could not see that the Chautauqua could in any way benefit the Town of Blairmore and felt that the visiting show, which in his opinion, placed on the town nothing in the town, but rather to take out over a thousand dollars of hard money, should be made pay for the privileges, but after hearing the arguments for and against the coming institution decided in favor of the rebate on the grounds that said license had been guaranteed by the citizens and rate-payers of the town.

Councillor Rosse could see how that it was possible for the Chautauqua to attract both people and money to the Hub of The Pass, and felt that after six days' sessions in our town the Chautauqua people would have the satisfaction, knowledge that Rosse and many others would be carrying bibles instead of bottles on their hips and could be thereafter classed as missionaries. He looked upon the mission of the Chautauqua people as that of moral reform, and hoped to assist them on the grounds by the distribution of temperate drinks and over four thousand cones of cooling element. Councillor Rosse was one of the signatories to the agreement with the Chautauqua people, and therefore did not feel disposed to move that the Chautauqua as a travelling show should be exempt from a municipal license, but he took pleasure in announcing such a resolution when introduced by Councillor Christophers and voting in favor of same. The motion passed unanimously, granting the citizens committee responsible for the introduction of Blairmore's first Chautauqua immunity from taxation.

Victor Grant, of Calgary, wrote the council, demanding refund of license paid by his representative to the Town of Blairmore for the privilege of selling furniture purchased by his company from the Blairmore hotel. The letter claimed that as the Grant Co. were in possession of a provincial auctioneer's license, the municipality had no right to impose a further penalty, but copy of license as issued to the Grant company proved that the Chief of Police issued a hawkers and peddlers' license and was perfectly within his jurisdiction in so doing.

E. F. Rahal claimed that he was wrongly taxed for his store that he had been assessed under the business tax upon a rental of $25 per month, while he was only paying $15. Mr. Rahal's letter was ordered filed, as the council had no power to deal with it, as Rahal in common with everyone else had ample opportunity to report his grievance at the court of revision, of which due notice was given him.

A communication was received from the Land Titles Office, attached to a blue-print showing land through which water-service easement was necessary, and on motion by Councillor Dutil the secretary-treasurer was instructed to ask the West Canadian Collieries Co. to grant said easement.

Louis Boldovino, whose town taxes amount to less than three thousand dollars annually, but not more than two dollars, wrote the council stating that part of his land upon which he was required to pay such high taxes was under water, and that he would not pay said taxes until the town would undertake to protect his property. Boldovino's communication was also filed.

The Trusts and Guarantee Company wrote the council, offering to lease the light line and pole to the town for a nominal sum, of perhaps $25 per month, contract to be made terminable without prejudice by either party on one month's notice. Matter was left with the Light Committee to look into.

Capt. W. A. Boes offered to transfer to the town lots 26, 27 and 28 in block 1, plan 2897; lots 10 and 11 in block 1, plan 3310; and lots 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 17 in block 33; and lots 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9 in block 34, plan 3292—24 lots in all—in consideration of a receipt for taxes in full on such property, said property to become the property of and to be sold by the town on motion by Evans-Christophers, it was decided to accept Capt. Boes's offer.

Another offer of certain lots in the east end of the town for park purposes was made by Capt. Boes, but the matter was laid over for consideration at next regular meeting.

Chief of Police McLeod withdrew his resignation and asked the council for an increase in salary, which on motion by Evans and Christophers was granted.

Council adjourned at 10:30, to meet again on August 23rd.

"Chautauqua" Arrives Safely

Born, on Chautauqua morning, Friday, August 3rd, to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald, a daughter. No wonder Jack was a Chautauqua booster.

"The majority of people eat too much, anyway," said Mrs. Eddie, professor of Household Science at the Manitoba Agricultural College, when discussing the Canadian Food Controller's suggestion that hotels and restaurants institute two meal-less days per week. "And limiting hotel menus to two or three courses is a fine idea."

Oddfellows Welcome Returned Member

Following the business meeting held on Monday night, the members of Bellevue Lodge 118, I.O.O.F., entertained their wives and friends to a social, at which the guest of the evening was Private Arty Burns. Private Burns has the distinction of being the first member of Bellevue Lodge to return home from active service in France. Pte. Burns enlisted with the 10th Battalion early last year. He is one of the large quota of 25 members of Bellevue Lodge to enlist out of a total membership of 117. Before leaving for overseas he had the misfortune to fracture his left arm at the elbow, but recovered sufficiently to be able to do overseas with a firm desire to do his bit. He transferred to Major Goult's Tunnelling Engineers and went over to France early in the present year, and was engaged at that hazardous duty without a few yards of the German's front line trenches when the old fracture became so irritable, and ulcerating made return to hospital necessary, where he has been undergoing treatment for several months before the doctors could decide that Private Burns would no longer be able to make use of that limb on active service and a return to home was recommended. He is now on a few days' furlough with his wife and family at Bellevue, after which he has to report at the Ogden Home, Calgary, where it is feared the left arm will have to be amputated at the shoulder. Pte. Burns regrets very sincerely his incapacitation for duty, but is also thankful that he has been privileged to return to his dear ones at home.

A splendid programme was rendered on Monday night, skillfully handled by Albert Halliwell, the N.E. of Bellevue Lodge, who in the course of a most appetizing high tribute to the sterling qualities of their returned disabled brother, Allan Hamilton, as D.D.G.M., was also a speaker. Following a song "The Sunny Side" by Dave Hutton, and a brief glimpse of the little fantasia to the great strains of the famous Bellevue I.C. O.F. orchestra, Private Burns made a fitting reply to the several addresses and thanked the members and friends for their kind reception.

"The primary duty of a food controller in Canada and the United States," said Hon. W. J. Hanna in a recent interview, "is to see that the men at the front do not suffer from want of food, and that our Mother Country and our European Allies should not suffer from want of food."

"Have you the power to check prices?" Hon. W. J. Hanna was asked.

"Certainly."

"Are you going to exercise it?"

"In the cases where we have the necessary data we will not hesitate to check prices," declared Mr. Hanna.

Toronto's tax arrears are $2,000,000. Edmonton's arrears are $5,000,000.

Allies Masters of the Air

German Concede Supremacy to French and British Flyers

That the Germans are keenly alive to the importance of the air force to military action is revealed in a report found on a German officer captured recently in the desert. Frankly admitted that the British and French mastery of the air was a fact. The German, it was asserted, were unable to fly over the enemy lines without being shot down. The report further stated that the German army was hidden on the ground. Thus, at decisive moments in the fighting, the German army was blinded while the British and French were attacking. The German army was being outwitted by war planes constantly swooping low and machine gunning the men in the trenches.

German hesitations, the report continued, was aggravated by the knowledge that their army was unable to support them. The document declared that the allied fliers so outnumbered and out-maneuvred the German aeroplanes that the latter were even unable to hold the air above their own heavy artillery positions. British and French machines constantly hovered overhead, dropping bombs and giving their own artillery accurate ranges.

This German report also admitted that the allies, ammunition depots, supply columns, cavalry supporting the troops, and the defence of the front line, and everything and everybody were harassed by the allied airmen, who often came within striking distance of critical positions. In short, the German report admitted that the allies were powerless unless something approaching equality is maintained in the air.

To Force Rumanian Harvest Crop

The German authorities in Roumania have made every preparation for the most rapid harvesting of the wheat crop. The report states that military detachments, labor parties have been enrolled from the native Roumanians, and the harvesters of war have been assigned to the work. The harvesters will be paid, according to the announcement in the Roumanian papers, higher wages than are customary in peace times, in order to encourage a zealous effort. Premiums are offered Roumanian landlords for speedy deliveries of grain.

Big Land Sale

Ninety Per Cent. Passed Into Hands of Farmers

When farmers buy more land it is in the form of a mortgage. Already, in the West, the Western Canadian farmers are exceedingly prosperous. It is estimated that the average farmer is being bought by them every day. A very striking instance of this was seen at Glendon in Southern Alberta. Three hundred and twenty-five parcels of land, which constituted one quarter section each, were put on sale by auction, and the balance of the lands in the Blackfoot Indian Reserve secured by the Indians under a treaty. The sale attracted nearly one thousand buyers, of whom the great majority were farmers from a radius of two hundred miles, in fact, local farmers were the highest bidders. Land speculators who attended the sale could not compete with them in the bidding. The highest bid was for a quarter section of land. The price was about $30 per acre. The highest bid was for a quarter section of land. The price was about $30 per acre.

Talks On Advertising

A merchant was telling an experienced salesman about his business being bad.
"There's one of my competitors down the street in the same line of business,"
said he, "whose store is just as modern as mine, but he does more business than I do, I cannot understand why people do not select my store service in preference to his when I have better store service and merchandise to offer. Before I remodelled my store, people said thumbly don't you put in modern fixtures in your store you'll do more business."
I did. I put attractive fixtures throughout my store, employed experienced salesmen to give efficient service and I am free to say that my business is incomparable in this town. Now will you tell me what's the matter with the people in this town? My location is good; I am careful in buying; I guarantee everything I sell, and still my business doesn't increase."

And the experienced man, after hearing the merchant's story, said: A necessity required in business where man-chaudise, service, system and modern methods are at their best, is ADVERTIS-ING.

You've adopted the right idea without establishing the right plan. You've got the kind of store in which people want to trade, but you've neglected to let them know how you're equipped to handle their trade. Your competitor down street advertises to let the people know what he has to sell and how he sells it. The people read it in the newspapers and they go there to buy. The best thing you can do is to advertise. Start an advertising campaign telling the people in a series of advertisements the same story you've just told me. Your competitor's advertisement appeals to readers of the paper;
and remember Timidity Eaton's catalogue is to be seen in every home in the town and district; so are other Department stores' catalogues, and if the man housewife thinks you have not in your store what she wants she reads the catalogue and there she sees what she believes she wants and as she has a little cash she reads Mary down to the store for a money order and a letter hastens off to the Department Store. You might as well have had that cash. You probably would have had you properly looked after your advertisement. Another thing to remember—don't think that by placing a few three or four inch advertisements in the paper for a month that you've done any advertising that will result in profit. Be conservative in your expenditure, but at the same time allow your advertising to represent the part of a good salesman. Use enough space each time so that the people will see it at a glance, and put enough "in-ger" in it so that it will be remembered long after it has been read."

"Always remember it pays to advertise
if you can deliver the goods."
"If you do not know what is in your store, and the clerks know less, you will lose many a good sale."
"And remember the public are independent enough to buy advertised goods."

German officers captured in the battle of Flanders have discussed quite freely both the military and political situation as it affects the Faterland. Germany's loss in man power they admit to be serious. The interesting information has been voluntarily given by these prisoners that the class of 1918 recruits is in the field in its entirety, and what is more significant, it is said, small elements of the 1919 class are at the front.
The whole trend of the statements made by the captive officers is that they are beginning to fear they may lose the war. More depressing than anything else is the fear that there may be another winter campaign. Peace without annexation or indemnities is endorsed by all the officers who have discussed the question.

Blairmore's first Chautauqua opens today, under the most favorable circumstances, on the old race track, the property of the West Canadian Collieries Co. Already people are beginning to come in from the prairie, many to camp and many others to avail of accommodation at the several hotels.

No meal will be served in restaurants or hotels on Tuesdays and Fridays when the new regulations proposed by W. J. Hanna, food controller, come into effect. He also suggests a substitute for white bread and that courses at breakfast and luncheon must be cut to two and only three for dinner.
Everybody will be asked to sign a pledge to reduce consumption of bread, beef and bacon.

Man's life and well being are like a tree. The root of the tree is agriculture, and manufactures and commerce the branches. Injure the root and the tree dies.
Upon agriculture the whole industrial fabric, the whole structure of the state rests.—Confucius.

An exchange says: "Know each part of your car." Most automobiles have every opportunity to be acquainted, alright.

With The Rocky Mountains Philosopher

"What do you think of conception, Francis?"
"Me no save! Me like Laurie!"

Come ye great and glorious mortals,
Mourn for our great Empire,
Ever hover o'er our armies
And their noble hearts inspire.

What are you about to say concerning the other fellow? First, sit down and count the cost. What will it cost you in manhood? What will it cost the other fellow in character?

Say, you careless one. That fellow you went with the other day didn't want to drink. He wanted to cut it out. He has been trying to quit for a long time.
You had a bottle in your hip-pocket, against the law. You persuaded him to try your bottle. Yes, he was weak. He got drunk. What do you think of yourself? Take a good look in the mirror.

The religion of Jesus of Nazareth makes a man straight, if he wants to be.

"If a man is crooked 'is thought, he will be crooked in speech and action."
Don't think you know anything about religion until you get acquainted with the Man of Nazareth. Make the acquaintance.

If you cannot cross the ocean,
Somewhere in France to fight the Hun,
Be a soldier in the homeland
And send the boys a few more guns.

If an air you cannot fly to,
Bring the German seppelin down,
You can battle in the garden and Thus make the cruel Kaiser frown.

If on land or sea you cannot Fight for the glorious Union Jack,
Still you can be a soldier, brother,
If your heart has got the knack.

My Boy HAS GONE TO WAR.

My boy has gone to the war,
Only a ladlike he is.
It seems a very few days
Since he in the crib I see.
See his toys on yonder shelf
How they speak of those dear years.
He loved that little soldier boy
Forebodings would start my tears.

In my arms I held him fast.
"I can never let you go!"
Only a ladlike he is.
This veritable truth I know.
But the call came o'er the wave:
"World's liberty is at stake!"
He 'listed with the Maple Leaves
And would fight for my dear sake.

I cannot call him to me—
Wouldn't do so if I could;
Though my heart is nearly breaking—
There's glory in leave manhood.
I would rather see him leave
Than have him within my arms.
He is doing his duty nobly Midst the world's greatest alarms.
Oh, God, comfort the dear mothers,
May all their dear boys be brave.
Oh, God, keep them while in battle
The world's greatest cause to save.
—Rocky Mountains Philosopher.

A Warning to Cigarette Smokers

Professor Wallace, in his famous address on "Community Building," delivered to a Lethbridge audience on Wednesday, issued a grave warning to school boys against the evils of cigarette smoking. He declared that never since Harvard was founded had a cigarette smoker ever won a scholarship in that famous university, and very similar results had been observed in other universities and colleges throughout the country. His own observations had resulted in his believing able to pick out smokers out of a new class after two years of study under him.

Helegy Written in 'A'otel Lobby

When in the kitchen, Jim, my boy,
Your kindness gave me joy;
But at selling lanes and basons
Your ability we know.

Shy off from the consumer, Jim,
Stand clear of the husky cook,
For soon or late 'tis sure prim into
Will close your order book.

Texas two or three may charmingly
Look to your eye on card;
But for a 'dint a little spat
With wife should be your reward.

Keep off the grass, old Jim, my boy,
Least snakes meet your way.
Let cook and such gods go to fry
And cut out 'bein' so gay!

Prosperity.

It's easy to land on the level,
A skid-road that's smooth as a floor;
You may have to work like the devil
And pull till your shoulder is sore;

But there's a road that will test you,
The test of both horse and man;
It's that the down-grade, my brother,
The place where you don't have to pull.

It is one that, somehow, is full,
The road up the hill you can master,
The long haul that's level may best,
But when things are pushin' you faster—

That's when you must keep on your feet.
Hard luck seldom conquers a fellow,
A fellow the regular kind;
But when you will quit, if you're yelish,

Is when things are shovin' behind,
Kicks then is the danger of ditchin',
If you're a wassin' to run,
So brace yourself back in the britchin'!

And keep in the middle, my son!
—Douglas Malloch, in The American Lumberman.

Rural School Picnic To Agricultural College

On Thursday, the 21st inst., the excursion to the Manitoba Agricultural College from some of the rural schools was inaugurated and a great success followed.

The children and the teachers who went with them are all enthusiastic about the trip and say they were most enjoyable, as well as instructive. They were able to read this in the Department written for the 300 children and teachers kindly provided a guide for the party and they over the different buildings; the children were able to see the various exhibits and house keeping etc.

The party then went to the poultry houses, where Prof. Herzer took great interest in the children, explaining and making each child try some eggs, visiting the incubator room, where the school boards were hatching.

Showing them brooders, where 300 chickens were being fed and explaining how to feed with better milk etc. Then came fattening poultry in crates and trap nests for the laying hens, and finally to the room where the pig picking of broilers.

From the poultry house, the party proceeded to the pig pens, where the children were made to handle the young pigs. Then into the cattle pens, where the children were made to handle the calves. Sheep pens were next.

The girls, as well as the boys, were made to handle the calves, live stock and were eager to see everything.

The college kindly arranged for them to eat their lunches in the dining hall and provided them with tea, which was much appreciated.

After lunch they visited the various exhibits, where the beautiful display of flowers delighted them. Then into the museum, where the children and animals proved a great attraction.

From the museum, the party proceeded to the garden, where the children were made to handle the plants. Then into the greenhouse, where the children were made to handle the plants.

Many of the children never have been beyond their own home, and after such a visit these children will have an ambition to return to the college later on and take advantage of the course of instruction provided there.

Even an occasional visit to a big school, they have been able to get a day spent at the college. The children were able to see the many things that are being done at the college, and they were able to see the many things that are being done at the college.

FATS OR OILS

Progressive Western City

From a Cow Town to an Irrigation Centre

Twenty-five years or so, when measured by the standards of old settled districts, no great change has taken place in the life of a community. Many an established town today almost as old as it did a quarter of a century ago; a little more, perhaps, and a more pretentious public buildings and better kept streets, perhaps, but otherwise essentially as it stood in the early nineteenth century.

But in the West all this is different. Places that 25 years ago were flag stations, or less, are today considerable centres of trade and population; the old stage routes have been replaced by many of them with electric railways, waterworks, and other marks of civilization. Many of the old centres have been replaced by a new one, and a new environment, appropriate to the new life of the people, has been created in its place. The rancher, the cow-puncher, the saddle horse and better chug wagon have given way to the farmer, the business man, the automobile and the motor car.

In few places has this evolution been more rapid than in the West, as defined than at Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, famous in the nineties for its ranching. The old stage route, now an important centre of irrigation, has been replaced by a new one, and a new environment, appropriate to the new life of the people, has been created in its place. The rancher, the cow-puncher, the saddle horse and better chug wagon have given way to the farmer, the business man, the automobile and the motor car.

The rancher, the cow-puncher, the saddle horse and better chug wagon have given way to the farmer, the business man, the automobile and the motor car.

In few places has this evolution been more rapid than in the West, as defined than at Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, famous in the nineties for its ranching. The old stage route, now an important centre of irrigation, has been replaced by a new one, and a new environment, appropriate to the new life of the people, has been created in its place. White Flour First Produced in City of Budapest

We all mourn the death of the white loaf. We look with disfavor upon its brown successor, and we think of this dingy edible as something less "going to the war" than we have forgotten that with our grandfathers a quite white loaf was a rarity, and a bread.

English millers had the shock of their lives when they discovered the whiteness of foreign flour. Nothing could be produced by our mills to satisfy the bakers, who in turn had to please his customers with white bread. Imports of flour increased alarmingly, and all because the British public were enamored of white bread.

Runners of wonderful machinery introduced white flour in Budapest, causing English millers to shut their factories. The result of this was that in 1878 the first complete plant to reduce wheat to white flour was installed in England.

We started the home manufacture of white bread. We have had to bid farewell to an old friend, but to an enemy alien invader—Answers.

Worms in children work havoc. These pests attack the tender lining of the intestines and lead to various ailments. The worms are of the most variety that cling to and feed upon interior surfaces. Miller's Worm Powders will not only exterminate these worms of whatever variety, but will serve to repair the injury they have done.

Placed On Special Reserve Established Freedom Of Conscience

Registry for Unemployed Officers Now

Sir Edward Kemp, minister of militia and defence, has announced the formation of a "reserve of officers" for the Canadian expeditionary force. His announcement says: "There are many officers, who for any other reason than that there were no suitable appointments in Canada, have from time to time been struck off the strength of the Canadian expeditionary force. They are now to be restored to it, with the rank and seniority which they held therein."

They, as well as officers who heretofore may cease to do duty with the Canadian expeditionary forces in Canada, and officers for whom their return from overseas, employment in Canada, or appointment will be placed on a special reserve which will appear in the quarterly militia list.

Reserve officers of the Canadian expeditionary force will be called upon, as such, by any allowance. It is without prejudice to any power to leave with pay, and allowances which has been or may be granted to them. On the other hand, they will be the first to be considered for any vacant position, and they are suitable to fill full vacant; and preference will be given to those of them who have active service at the front."

A man who speaks from experience says the new measure is required by a wide variety of circumstances which she uses diamond pins or rolling stones.

ANY CORN LIFTS OUT, DOESN'T HURT A BIT.

No foolishness! Lift your corns and calluses off with fingers—It's like magic!

Some corns, hard corns, soft corns or any kind of a corn, can harmlessly be lifted right out with the fingers if you apply upon the corn a drop of freezone, says a Cincinnati advertiser.

For little cost one can get a small bottle of freezone at any drug store, name of the product, and a few drops of every corn or callus without pain. It is simply a drop of freezone which is applied and does not even irritate the skin and within while applying it or afterwards.

This announcement will interest many of our readers. The advertiser says that any freezone left him to apply upon the corn and it will be removed from his whole drug house.

Royal Family Abandon Former Names

Step Taken at Request of King George

A further abolition of German titles held by members of the English Royal Family residing in England is indicated in a court circular which announces.

"Their Highnesses Princess Victoria and Princess Marie Louise of Schleswig-Holstein will henceforth be styled Their Highnesses Princess Victoria and Princess Marie Louise respectively."

The Princesses of the Royal Family have been asked to give up their names, at the King's desire, relinquish all royal titles and King has directed that royal warrants be prepared stating what they will be styled.

The Times says it understands Prince Albert of Battenberg will take the title of Marquis of Mount Battenberg.

"This," says the Times, "is simply an English translation of the German name of the prince, and it is a coincidence that the new name of the prince is the same as the name of the old estate of Battenberg."
